Work together on this. The only requirement is to sign your name above:

Write a C++ program that:

- prompts for an integer, a number of seconds
- outputs the following information:
  - how many days in the value
  - how many hours remain given the day count
  - how many minutes remain given the hour count
  - how many seconds remain given the minute count