Looking for a crazy optical illusion... this is sure one of the craziest we've seen. Totally straight lines, but it sure looks like this wacky checkerboard is bulging right off the screen. If you don't believe it, just hold a piece of paper up to test the straightness of all the lines.

No Black dots
They are all straight lines
Four Eyes Two Lips

Doesn't this make you think that you have double vision? It seems to make your eyes skip around the face, it's hard to just look at the picture for what it is. This is because humans can recognize a face easier than many other objects, so when a face doesn't actually look like it should, we use our stigmas (mental models) of what we know a face to be and our mind tries to fill in the blanks.
